SPOTLIGHT ON...

Purdue Writing Lab Fall 2020 Consultant Awards

We'd like to take a moment to appreciate all our amazing consultants this semester. Every member of our staff met the challenges of this year with enthusiasm and grace. It really wouldn't be possible for us to provide the same level of support this semester to the Purdue campus without all of them.

While we are very grateful to all of our consultants, there were several who were nominated by their peers for our fall Consultant Awards. We've listed them below along with a recommendation from the individuals who nominated them.

Undergrad Consultant of the Semester Award

- Rianna Bush - "She always has a positive attitude and is really supportive, which makes her such a great consultant and person!"
- Hafsa Farooq - "Hafsa is knowledgeable and passionate about her work. She has always been willing to help out. Her knowledge, enthusiasm, and patience are appreciated."

Undergrad Leadership Award

- Helen Zoss - "She always gives helpful and supporting feedback to clients, and she reaches out when she's unsure about something, to make sure she's giving her clients the best support she can. Helen has also been involved in quite a few projects and a conference presentation which has showcased her effort and dedication for helping clients in unique ways."

Grad Consultant of the Semester Award

- Heather Murton - "Heather is always willing to support the Writing Lab and other consultants. She is very encouraging while also being able to provide genuine suggestions."
- Kelsey Wort - "Kelsey shows not only magnanimity to fellow consultants within the Lab, but also extends that same generosity of spirit to her clients. Her dedication to the Lab can be seen in her willingness to undertake new projects such as the Creative Writing Conversation held every Thursday."

Grad Leadership Award

- Mitch Hobza & Isaac Wang - "I've been lucky enough to chat with both of them throughout the semester about the work they're doing in 390, and I'm really proud of and excited for how they're supporting their students and the new consultants in the Lab."

Outstanding New Consultant Award

- Shannon Campbell - "Shannon does a wonderful job working with clients and is very patient and caring with her feedback."
- Kate O'Donoghue - "Kate was paired with current ENGL 390 students, who reported that she was kind and thoughtful, which they valued because they felt vulnerable sharing personal details about their lives with a consultant. They also noted that Kate listened to their concerns and provided advice that they found useful in revisions."
- Fernando Perez - "I think he can understand the client's needs in a short period of time and be able to provide helpful suggestions. Also, I think he is very insightful, and he is good at guiding the client to find the 'Aha!' moment."
